Sextortion: The Hidden Pandemic

“Sextortion: The Hidden Pandemic,” which made its premiere at the 2022 Santa Barbara International Film Festival as part of the Social Justice Feature Documentaries, tackles a disturbing yet timely subject matter and is an investigation into the world of online grooming and sextortion—a present-day reality for many children online.

Through partnerships with the Department of Justice and Homeland Security, the filmmaking team had unique unrestricted access to all government documents for an international sextortion case of a Top Gun pilot with hundreds of victims, unsealed for this film for the very first time.

The Parker Police Department, the Colorado Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force and Spotlight Docs are bringing this showing to the Denver metro area. The screening is free, but tickets are required.
